

WITHOUT YOUR TUCSON-PIMA PUBLIC LIBRARY...

WHERE WOULD YOU CHECK IT OUT?

Ever wonder where the money comes from to pay for our free public library?

Without revenues allocated by the Legislature, our library books and other vital community services would become tattered and torn.

No one likes paying taxes, but everyone depends on their city to deliver the basic ingredients of quality of life: streets, parks, courts, and fire and police protection. All of these programs depend heavily on revenue collected and distributed in partnership with the state.

If you love your library and want it stocked with books that help build young minds, help make sure that library funds are never overdue.

For more information or to get involved, visit www.strongcities.org.

A reminder from your city